

Flying Enterprise Breaks Loose From Tug, Drifts Aimlessly

No Direct Word Heard From Carlsen

London, Wednesday (AP) — The crippled Flying Enterprise broke loose from her towline in the rough Atlantic early today and was wallowing helplessly almost in sight of land.

Capt. Kurt Carlsen and a British tug officer were presumably still aboard but had not been heard from directly for hours.

The battered and listing American freighter lay heeled over at the mercy of heavy seas about 33 miles from Falmouth but only a few miles off the English coast.

A message from the towing tug Turnmill to Carlsen, picked up by Lloyds, said:

"Best thing we can do is wait for daylight and come in and try to reconnect. Try and get some rest if you can."

The ship rode out a three-hour storm last night and appeared to be riding steadily behind the towing tug Turnmill, when the 750-yard, five-inch steel line snapped.

The break came some time between 1:30 and 1:55 a.m. (8:30 and 8:55 p. m. EST, Tuesday).

First word of the break came from the Turnmill's owners, who said the tug had radioed: "Tow parted Lizard bearing 225 degrees 10 miles." Lizard is the southernmost point off the coast of Cornwall, around which the Enterprise was being pulled.

Twenty minutes later, the U. S. destroyer Willard Keith radioed Navy headquarters in London that the line broke "in rough seas." The message from the Keith added, "there has been no word from Carlsen since 1820 hours (6:20 p. m.) Tuesday evening. There are four tugs at sea."

The ominous turn followed a midnight position report from the Keith that the worst of the storm it had reported earlier was past and the Enterprise was being towed toward Falmouth at about three knots.

When the towline broke, the Enterprise was about 53 miles from Falmouth, where she had been due late today.

At 4:15 a. m. (11:15 p. m. EST, Tuesday), the Navy reported: "No word from the Keith since the report that the towline parted. We are expecting a report momentarily."

Trinity House, which has charge of all Britain's coastguard and lifesaving activities and which must be notified at once of a derelict ship, said it had no report on the Enterprise.

Heavy Ground Action Flares

Seoul, Korea, Wednesday, (AP) — The heaviest ground action in nearly six weeks flared along the western Korean front Tuesday when the Chinese Reds hurled an estimated 4,000 troops into battle.

A U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer said at least four Chinese battalions were fighting the South Korean First Division in the bitter battle of Sasi bulge, west of Korumpo.

It was the first time the Allied unit engaged in the 13-day-old battle had been identified.

The briefing officer said elements of two Chinese regiments knocked the South Korean forces off two knobs in the heaviest action since the provisional cease-fire line was set at Panmunjom Nov. 27.

The Chinese Reds threw their reinforcements into the fight only a few hours after the South Koreans ground out a small advance against a lone Red battalion.

The Eighth Army communiqué said the Reds lost an estimated 1,000 men Tuesday in the fierce fighting.

Employment At Record Level

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer said yesterday the nation closed out 1951 with 600,000 fewer people out of jobs than at the end of 1950.

Sawyer said, "It is encouraging to note that unemployment for the nation as a whole continues at the near minimum level of recent months, in spite of further reported dislocations in certain areas."

Unemployment during 1951 averaged 1,750,000, a post-war low and roughly half the average level of the two preceding years.

For the entire year of 1951, employment was at a record average of 61 million, up one million from 1950 and up two million from 1949.

Approves NATO Plan

Paris (AP) — The United Nations political committee overrode Russian objections last night and approved a collective security scheme to permit the U. N. to use regional armies, such as the North Atlantic pact forces. The vote was 51 in favor and the Soviet bloc of five against.

Truman-Churchill Conference Ends With Pledge To Support European Army Against Reds

Washington, (AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill ended their four-day conference last night with a reported pledge to give solid support to plans for an all-European Army as a bulwark against possible Communist aggression.

Responsible officials said the President and Mr. Churchill both expressed the fervent desire to see the six-nation Army plan succeed in the quickest possible time.

Allies Accuse Red Delegates Of Stalling

Munich, (AP)—The Allies today accused Red delegates of stalling on a Korean armistice and said their tactics reflect the will of "only a small clique of power-mad masters in the Kremlin."

The accusation was broadcast to Korea over the voice of the United Nations command radio.

It came after the Reds had rejected a revised Allied proposal for exchanging prisoners of war and displaced civilians who want repatriation.

The Korean truce talks have been deadlocked for days on the issues of policing an armistice and exchanging prisoners.

At today's morning session, the Reds offered a counterproposal on armistice supervision.

An Allied delegate said it was similar to the U. N. command proposal of December 29 in every respect—except that it made no mention of armistice reconstruction.

The delegate told newsmen later that the Allies probably would reject the Red plan in the afternoon session.

"I have told you before how we feel about armistices," he said. "We have not changed our view on that in any way, shape or form."

The Allies had proposed rebuilding of a limited number of airfields in North Korea for civilian use only.

Mrs. Stokowski Expecting Baby

New York (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt Stokowski, 27-year-old heiress wife of conductor Leopold Stokowski, who is 69, was in a hospital yesterday and a friend said she is expecting a baby shortly.

Earlier reports that Mrs. Stokowski was seriously ill, based on cancellation of a Friday night Minneapolis concert by her husband, apparently were erroneous.

"She is not ill—no more than anyone else expecting a baby," a friend of the family said.

"The friend would not disclose what hospital Mrs. Stokowski is confined in."

The Stokowski have a son, born in August, 1950.

Minor Judiciary Fees Increased

Harrisburg, (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday approved legislation authorizing all judges, magistrates and justices of the peace to collect higher fees effective immediately.

The measure affects most fees except the standard $5 charge for marriages.

The cost of a summary conviction for a motor vehicle violation before the minor judiciary is increased from $3.50 to $5. Other new fees include $9 for a summary conviction in all other cases; $11 for a misdemeanor, and $15 for a felony.

Billettt admitted chaining the lad to the bed about half the time during those 79 days. Asked why he took the boy, Billettt replied:

"Just call it adventure. Just call it a normal friendship."

Ricky observed his 14th birthday Nov. 7 while officers sought him.

Billettt has been charged with both bank robbery and kidnapping. Monday night he was charged with the daylight robbery of a Salt Lake City branch bank.

Yesterday afternoon, he was charged with the kidnapping before City Judge Marcellus K. Snow. The charge came under state, and not Federal, kidnapping laws because no state line was crossed. Under it, Billettt faces one year to life imprisonment. The death penalty cannot be asked because no ransom was demanded.

Judge Snow set the kidnapping arraignment for today.

Ricky had been sought in western states. He was employed at the used car lot where Billettt was a salesman.

"I really thought he was a policeman," said Ricky in explaining why he left willingly with Billettt. The boy said he was told he was under arrest for stealing.

"Every Sunday I was forced to take an oath that if I left, made any noise or was seen at the windows that my family would be killed," the lad said.

"I prayed all the time that I'd get out and I am out now. I like John, however."

Ricky said Billettt told him his parents knew his whereabouts.

Mr. Truman To Address Joint Session

Washington, (AP)—The 82nd Congress reconvened yesterday with Democratic and Republican leaders apparently agreed on fighting any major boost in taxes but far apart on other issues in this critical presidential election year.

Today at 12:30 p. m., President Truman will address a joint session of both houses in his annual "State of the Union" message outlining the administration's legislative program.

The President's speech, expected to run about 5,500 words, will mark the real kick-off of what many legislators forecast as one of the most politically turbulent sessions in history. It will be broadcast and televised.

Senate GOP leaders promptly served notice they will vigorously oppose any hike in Federal taxes and will demand big cuts in government spending.

The President is expected to ask another tax increase and present a multi-billion-dollar spending program in his forthcoming trio of messages to Congress. The budget and economic messages will come later this month.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) of the Senate Republican Policy committee said that group, meeting yesterday forenoon, agreed unanimously to fight any higher tax proposals in 1952.

The Republicans, he said, will also demand "greater control" over Federal spending.

Amid all the jovial handshaking and backslapping, bitter political overtones were evident at the outset as both parties jockeyed for advantage. The slogans and war cries that will be heard across the land in the months to come began to erupt in both chambers.

Before the session was 30 minutes old, Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), newly elected as GOP floor leader, set the tempo by issuing a statement denouncing what he called "the abject failure of the majority (Democratic) party to provide forthright, honest, responsible and forward-looking leadership."

Soft Drink Price Hiked

Washington (AP)—An increase of a penny a bottle on some retail sales of soft drinks was authorized by the government yesterday.

Lower ceiling prices were ordered on soaps, cleansers, tallow, raw wool and wool futures, but these will have no effect on selling prices.

The Office of Price Stabilization said soft-drink dealers whose costs have gone up will be permitted to raise their prices a penny a bottle on single bottle sales, or a half cent on multiple sales. Manufacturers will be allowed to reduce bottle sizes instead of hiking prices, if they choose.

OPS officials said the order on soaps, tallow and wool would not be reflected in lower prices because those products are already selling below present ceiling prices.

Officials said the ceiling cuts on bar and packaged soaps, cleansers and detergents will amount to about 10 or 12 per cent—bringing them near current selling prices.

Tobin Holds Eisenhower Most Logical Choice For Republican Nomination For Presidency

The man of the hour, according to Richard L. Tobin, head of the New York Herald-Tribune radio news division, is General-of-the-Army Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Tobin, who addressed the Dutch Treat club last night at the Penn-Stroud hotel, looks upon Eisenhower as the most logical choice for nomination on the Republican ticket. He picks the general on the basis of personal experience with his headquarters during World War II.

"Eisenhower does not have a typically military mind," in Tobin's opinion. "Look at how well he ran SHAPE," Tobin says.

"During the war he worked with every conceivable kind of political prima donna—Montgomery, DeGaulle, Patton, Churchill—temperamental prima donnas, all of them. But he handled the job."

Eisenhower's position as the guiding power behind the Allied efforts in the European theater during the war and his subsequent appointment as chief of the Atlantic Pact forces have both required the greatest skill as a diplomat, Tobin maintains.

Tobin, who served as war correspondent in the European theater both before and after D-day, feels the Eisenhower-for-president boom will have "rough going" unless the general engages in active campaign for the nomination, however.

(The New York Herald-Tribune was the first large metropolitan daily to endorse "Ike" as a candidate on the Republican ticket.)

Tobin's address before the Dutch Treat club last night concentrated heavily upon the far-eastern situation. Using the theme "History in the Making," Tobin talked on the Iranian oil problem and the general political scene in Asia.

"You can't talk politics to a man with an empty stomach," Tobin said. "People have yet to realize that the biggest single political fact in the world today is hunger."

Tobin, an extensive traveler and a nationally-known reporter since the days of the Bruno Hauptmann trial, is the author of a first novel—"The Center of the World"—which was published last Spring. His other works include a wartime diary, a volume of short stories, a collection of essays and a forthcoming collection of short stories which will be published this year.

Two men were injured at a bridge construction site at Delaware Water Gap last night shortly after 11 when the power shovel they were operating went into a sump hole and upset.

The men, Lamar Mervine, 35, and James Flannery, 31, both of Centralia, Pa., were pinned inside the cab of the power shovel, Mervine, whose head was struck by equipment, suffered severe shock and possible fractures.

Both men were brought by ambulance to Monroe county General hospital where they were treated for shock, bruises and possible fractures. X-rays will be taken this morning. The men were admitted to the hospital shortly after midnight.

Hospital authorities said their condition was "not bad" following a preliminary examination. The two men are employed by the Johnson-Drake-Piper Construction Co.

Beauty Queen Loses Battle Against Cancer

Atlanta (AP) — Betty Thompson, 19-year-old high school beauty queen whose shattered romance with sailor Tom Amburn touched the hearts of Americans, lost her battle with cancer yesterday.

She died after a valiant four-year fight against the disease which forced amputation of one leg and caused cancellation of her marriage to her sailor sweetheart of Sioux Falls, S.D.

Amburn came from the Norfolk, Va., Naval station last June to visit Betty. They had met while Amburn was visiting a neighbor of Betty's. She wore his ring on her finger when she was graduated from high school a few weeks earlier.

Betty broke her engagement with the sailor. "I'm not mad at him," she said. "But I think it best to end our engagement under the circumstances. I love Tom, just like I love everybody else."

"The doctor told me to live one day at a time," she said brightly after learning she would die soon, "and that is what I intend to do."

Retailers Told To Expect Better Year Than 1951

New York, (AP)—The nation's merchants will find 1952 "a better year than 1951," delegates to the 41st annual meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods association were told yesterday.

A. W. Zelomek, retail trade analyst, told the convention: "I believe that 1952 will be a better year than 1951. Rather than a severe recession in the last half of the year, which some observers seem to expect, I believe we will get off to a slow start in the first quarter, barring a new war scare, and continue to gain momentum throughout the year."

"I believe also that retailers will have a more profitable year than in 1951. Price movements will not be uniform; they never are. But there will not be the pronounced liquidation of inventories and prices this year that there was last year. Your retained markup should show an improvement."

Washington (AP)—The National Production Authority, under pressure to relieve rising unemployment in Detroit, yesterday boosted second-quarter automotive output to 900,000 cars and 240,000 trucks.

Truman Supports Humphrey In Minnesota Presidential Voting

Washington, (AP)—Politicians got a new morsel of mystery to chew over last night as it was reported that President Truman has called off the entry of his own name in the Minnesota presidential primary and has backed Senator Humphrey (D-Minn) for the state's preference votes.

The reports came from Humphrey's aides and from Democratic leaders in his home state of Minnesota.

These questions immediately arose:

Does it mean Mr. Truman was decided not to run for reelection and is building up Humphrey, a "Fair Dealer," to make the try in his stead?

Or does it mean that the President, either determined to run or undecided, wants in either case to retain control of the nomination by getting votes pledged to a strong Truman supporter?

The White House was silent last night as it has been since Mr. Truman said he had made up his mind what he was going to do but wouldn't announce his decision until he got ready.

Washington, (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) claimed once again yesterday to give him the Republican presidential nomination if all his backers can produce the convention voting strength he expects from them.

At the same time John D. M. Hamilton, one of the senator's top campaign aides, said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower had "pulled the rug out from under" his supporters and left them without a candidate.

The statements from the Taft camp came in response to word from Eisenhower Monday that the North Atlantic Treaty organization commander would obey a "clearcut call to political duty" but would not take any personal part in a nomination drive.

Eisenhower backers claimed that the Paris statement assures the general's nomination and election.

Eisenhower's statement was elicited by the announcement of plans to enter his name in the Republican primary in New Hampshire. In a follow-up move yesterday the New Hampshire attorney general's office ruled that the general is a Republican. Some State House observers interpreted that finding as a bar to entering his name in the Democratic preference voting, a move which Democratic admirers still had in mind in the face of his words.

East Shivers

New York — Parts of the East shivered in the New Year's coldest weather yesterday. Temperatures ranged from below zero in New England and northern New York to freezing in extreme northern Florida.

Only One Of Victims Identified

Blakeslee—Three men were killed and one injured critically when their stolen car crashed into a south-bound bus 10 miles north of here yesterday.

Wyoming State police made a tentative identification of one of the dead men as Joseph Patrick Costa, 154-56 Twenty-first St., Whitestone, N.Y.

The other two dead and the man in critical condition at Wilkes-Barre General hospital have not yet been identified.

The accident occurred at 8:45 a.m., shortly after two of the men had wrecked another stolen car by running it into a ditch off Route 115 a half mile north of here. The two apparently abandoned the car and were picked up by the two companions driving behind them.

Wyoming State police said both cars were evidently stolen from the same neighborhood early yesterday morning. The one which hit the bus was owned by William L. Daenheuer, Great Neck, Long Island, N.Y. The one which went into the ditch here was owned by Grace U. Smith, also of Great Neck.

In the final accident, the car bearing the four men struck a patch of icy road, spun around four times in front of the on-coming bus and crashed into it.

A woman bus passenger and the bus driver, William Ivory, of Philadelphia, were injured slightly by the impact. None of the eight other passengers in the bus required medical attention.

Fingerprints of the three dead men may provide positive identification in 24 to 48 hours.

The tentative identification of Costa followed a teletype message and description to New York State police.

Wyoming police said a relative of Costa telephoned from New York City later in the day and said family members would be arriving today to identify the body.

The ditched car was first seen by Pfc. Don Heist as he was patrolling Route 115 out of the Brodheadville barracks.

Heist spotted the yellow car off the road about 9:15. There was no one in it, and he noticed that the right side had been damaged.

Heist said he guessed the occupants might be hiding up the road toward Blakeslee to get garage service.

He began to drive along the road to find the occupants. A short time later the trooper returned to the ditched car for a closer look. In the glove compartment he found an automobile insurance policy made out to Grace U. Smith, the owner.

Checking with residents, Heist found that Mrs. Archie Sillies had heard a "swishing sound" when the car went into the ditch across the street from her home.

She looked out front just in time to see two men get out of it. Then a tan car came up, stopp'd, and the two men from the wrecked car got into it.

At the same moment, a quarter of a mile up the highway, Mrs. Sillies' husband was driving toward his home.

He told Heist that a light-colored car came at him at a high rate of speed and he had to veer off the road to avoid a collision. Sillies said he thought there were four men in the vehicle.

After hearing the Sillies' story, Heist drove toward Wilkes-Barre. Five miles beyond the county line he discovered the car described had been involved in the bus accident.

Luxury Auto Thieves Nabbed

New York, (AP)—Federal agents said yesterday they had smashed international rings that specialized in stealing luxury automobiles for foreign delivery at prices up to $7,500 each.

They reported the arrest of seven men in New York and one in Hoboken, N. J., on charges of interstate transportation of stolen motor vehicles. Fourteen were arrested previously.

Elmore Haag Appointed Chief Clerk

Newfoundland — The appointment of S. Elmore Haag as chief clerk in the office of the commissioners of Wayne county was among those announced at the organization meeting of the board in Honesdale Monday.

Haag, long active in Republican party affairs, resigned as revenue agent at the Fairview State hospital to accept the post. He succeeds Kenneth Cable, Honesdale.

The new appointee is a member of the Wayne county board of education as well as the Greene-Dreher-Sterling joint board. He is a past commander of Phillips-Zacharias-Phillips Post No. 859, American Legion and has been an active member of the Greene-Dreher Fair association for many years, having recently completed two terms as its president.

In the organization of the board, Russell Frey, South Sterling, the minority party member, was named as chairman of the board of assessments and revision of taxes. J. T. Wilcox was named chairman of the board of commissioners and J. R. (Pat) Case will act as chairman of the county institutional district.

Other appointments included Attorney E. Emerson Howell, solicitor; John Westgate, sealer of weights and measures; Joseph Hull, engineer; Ralph Gillow, personal property tax; Emma Menner, assistant clerk; Herman Botens, farm superintendent of the county poor farm.

Cherry Lane

Mrs. William Clugston

Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Lank Jr. and daughter Barbara, of Philadelphia, were visitors at their parents home on Saturday, as were also Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gravatt and daughter, Gale, of Philadelphia. The youngsters in the party enjoyed sledding down hill in the Poconos during their stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hallet called on the William Clugstons recently, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hallet also paid New Year's calls, through the locality.

Mrs. Mabel Henry and son, Clifford, called on the William Clugstons on Friday. Clifford returned by plane to his teaching position in Glendale, Cal., on Sunday.

Over New Year's weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Likewise, of Endicott, N. Y., visited with their family at White Wheel Cottage.

Sunday callers at the home of the Ted Sebring included Mr. and Mrs. Bill Martin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Rinker and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Yewdale, of Philadelphia, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sebring Jr. All enjoyed the new television set which was a Christmas gift to the family.

Ted Sebring has on display in their storeroom some of the interesting results of his hobby of woodcrafting, two outstanding ones being gaily painted woodpecker door-knockers and the other the Stairway to the Stars bric-a-brac shelves. At time permits he hopes to fashion numerous similar articles.

Water Gap Council Renames Francis Drake To Presidency

The Delaware Water Gap borough council held its annual reorganization meeting Monday night, Burgess Forrest Smith presiding. Francis Drake was renamed president of the council with Mrs. Edith Ciebe returned as secretary. The offices of treasurer and solicitor for the council were filled by Miss Dorothy Meyer and Detlef Hansen, respectively.

The council re-hired Police Chief Fred Decker for another term and created a new post of "special, part-time police officer" which was filled by Frank Decker, M. Eugene Leffler continues for another term as superintendent of the water works.

Three councilmen were installed at the meeting this week, one of them a newly-elected member serving for the first time on the council.

Richard Hauser, the new councilman, Christie Shull and Phillip Farber, returning councilmen, were sworn in by Burgess Smith.

Financial reports made by and to the council indicated a "good, sound financial condition at the beginning of the year," according to Burgess Smith.

How About You?

Christmas Seals, the colorful stamps sold by the Tuberculosis and Health Society, are the cheapest form of health insurance you can buy. They provide the money with which to fight and treat tuberculosis. This year in Monroe County a lot of people forgot to send in the money for their seals. The result is that the association is $700 short of its goal. If you are one of those who forgot to send your check, do it today.

The Political Department

Former President Herbert Hoover blames the tax scandals on the exploitation of the Treasury Department for political patronage.

A generation earlier, it was the Post Office Department that was the key political department in the government. By tradition, the man who was appointed postmaster general was usually the President's chief political agent, and local postmasters were regarded as political sinecures.

That has since been largely corrected, and the career standard is now quite prevalent in the post office. The Treasury Department is now the chief source of political patronage, and a far richer source than the post office ever was. It will not be as easy, however, to free this department of political influences, since the stakes are now so much greater.

Greatest Road on Earth

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, now virtually completed from one end of the State to the other, surely must be among the greatest public works created by man. And it will affect the lives of Pennsylvanians in many ways.

With the opening of the western extension the other day, the Turnpike now is a 327-mile freeway from the Ohio border to the outskirts of Philadelphia. Its roadways slice through hills, bridge rivers, skirt town and tunnel under mountains. The broad right-of-way is fenced in to eliminate pedestrians and animals. Crossroads and railroads are carried over or under the freeway. A motorist can drive the entire 327 miles without a stop.

This engineering feat would astound the builders of the Great Wall of China, or the Roman Aqueducts, or the Pyramids of Egypt. The total cost of over 211 million dollars is more than the cost of the great dams of the West.

Undoubtedly, the Turnpike is the greatest road ever built.

The completed Turnpike cuts an estimated five or six hours off the time required to drive across Pennsylvania. The new extensions should attract even more traffic to Pennsylvania than did the original central section.

When the western extension was being considered, Gov. James H. Duff predicted that the opportunity for fast and easy truck haulage would attract new industries.

Before long, the Pennsylvania Turnpike will be linked up with the New Jersey Turnpike, which now is nearing completion. That will give motorists and truckers a freeway practically all the way to New York City. Another link in the New York and New England parkways, and they can drive to Portland, Maine, with few interruptions.

Proposed turnpikes across Ohio and Indiana will, if built, speed traffic to Chicago.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike will be the key link in this vast system. It is bound to increase the prosperity of the State.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A student at Ohio University with a fine eye for detail has just concluded a series of experiments to determine the exact speed of a small. The verdict: approximately twenty three inches on the hour. "An earth worm," he adds, "travels even more slowly." Both would be right at home in afternoon traffic in mid-town Manhattan these days!

Sign on the bulletin board of a Los Angeles aircraft factory: "For sale cheap: a slightly defective ten-inch television set. For details, ask for Squinty."

A brassy young man accosted Lana Turner in Dave Chasen's Hollywood chophouse and said, "Goodness, Lana, do you know you have circles under your eyes?" "Of course I know," snapped Lana. "That's why I wear a sweater."

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Fellow newspaper reporters, let us stand and cheer. From the Hollywood film factories there is coming, at long, long last, a movie which promises to portray us and our work accurately.

It is called "Deadline, U. S. A." and it was written and is being directed by a Butch-haired ex-newspaperman named Richard Brooks. Humphrey Bogart stars as managing editor.

"Your reporters are all drunken bums in rumpled clothes, I suppose?" I asked Brooks suspiciously. He smiled and shook his head. "Then surely they wear presscards in their hat bands," I persisted, "and bark their stories over the phone in headline language?" Brooks grinned and said "No."

He had a few criticisms of his own of previous movie newspapering:

"The most insignificant item, because it was a plot point, became a banner story. From the make-up you couldn't tell what kind of newspaper it was—conservative or otherwise. You did not know the reporters' problems or the publishers' worries like newsprint costs."

"Wire services were rarely mentioned by name—AP, UP, INS, Reuters. There's a lot of newspaper between the reporter and the rolling presses, but you seldom saw it. And the reporter was always somehow a detective, cleverer than the police. He went far beyond his line of duty, which is to report, not create, the news."

The 20th Century-Fox picture located in New York City. For four days, scenes were shot in the Daily News plant during hours when it wasn't busy.

The city-room set here is startlingly realistic, even to tobacco cans jammed into the telephone sounders. There are four teletype printers—and operators offstage to run them. The telephones on the well-worn desks really work. There are paste pots, copy spikes, and newspaper copy paper.

Brooks, 39, had various reporting jobs for the Philadelphia Record, Kansas City Star, Atlantic City Press, and New York World-Telegram. The movie "Crossfire"

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Five and Ten Percenters. The world these days seems to be full of five percenters and ten percenters and even those who take more than that for services rendered or unrendered. These agents are presumed to have some nexus with fame and glory.

Authors, writing for magazine or book publishers, playwrights, lecturers, actors and all sorts of energetic and hopeful persons find the ladder of success covered with unproductive persons who have some kind of special "pull" for selling other people's services. Such commissions range from 5 to 35 per cent and usually fine devices are conceived to make part of the commission seem to be for some special service.

The shooting of a ten percenter by Walter Wanger naturally stimulated curiosity as to the breed, which in Hollywood is especially prolific. The agent there is a very engaging person, usually associated with one or another of a few terrifically powerful (to use a Hollywoodian expression) agencies that exercise a vast influence, often in restraint of wisdom, if not of trade.

In New York State, a fee of more than five per cent is illegal and the agent collecting more is ipso facto guilty of a misdemeanor and can lose his license. Few of the payers of these commissions know that there is such a law and therefore pay what they are asked to, in the hope of further engagements.

The law is specific, so far as New York State is concerned, and as much of the business is transacted here, it would be advantageous to those who are being gypped to read Article II, Section 185 of the general business law of the State of New York.

It is true that the agents have been active trying to get the legislature to pass more favorable provisions. In this they have failed, thus far, as they should. The law provides that in all theatrical business, except vaudeville or circus engagements, commissions shall not "in any case exceed the gross amount of five per centum of the wages or salary of the engagement when the engagement is less than ten

In short, the SRP seeks a remilitarized, renazified Germany which (in cooperation with Stalin) can some day rule Europe.

Throughout Germany other new Nazi groups crowded over the SRP victory in lower Saxony and are playing footsie with Remer and Doris. . . . Already the Bavarian Economic Reconstruction Party (with 12 deputies in the Bonn Parliament) has joined forces with the SRP. . . . Other likeliest for fusion in the Nazi combine are the Deutsche Bloc in northern Hesse; the National Democratic Party in Upper Hesse; and the German Electoral bloc in Schleswig-Holstein. . . . Schleswig-Holstein is now in Nazi hands. . . . This state's premier is Dr. Walther Bortram, a former Nazi

Throughout Germany other new Nazi groups crowded over the SRP victory in lower Saxony and are playing footsie with Remer and Doris. . . . Already the Bavarian Economic Reconstruction Party (with 12 deputies in the Bonn Parliament) has joined forces with the SRP. . . . Other likeliest for fusion in the Nazi combine are the Deutsche Bloc in northern Hesse; the National Democratic Party in Upper Hesse; and the German Electoral bloc in Schleswig-Holstein. . . . Schleswig-Holstein is now in Nazi hands. . . . This state's premier is Dr. Walther Bortram, a former Nazi

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Winchell

Nazism was "dead" . . . Last month, after serving for six years as second ranking American official in Germany, Mr. Battenweiser retired from his post. . . . His last words were a complete flip-flop from the position he had taken 18 months earlier. . . . He declared that Germany had witnessed "a revival of arrogant nationalism," that religious hatred was still rampant; that there was a "disappointingly small" number of Germans who "wanted to do the right thing."

As far back as 1945 when the allies occupied Germany and began making dreadful mistakes—this column warned the people of the U. S. and their elected representatives that, far from undergoing denazification—Germany was moving swiftly toward renazification. . . . we cited case after case of Nazis returning to positions of power and influence in German political, economic and cultural life. . . . We don't know what finally opened Mr. Battenweiser's eyes but here are some developments over the past 12 months that may have contributed to his education—which he should have known all along.

In the Spring of 1951 the Socialist-Workers Party placed its candidates on the ballot in the election of a parliament for lower Saxony. . . . The Socialist-Workers Party received 366,709 votes—ranking fourth among the ten parties that campaigned. . . . It elected 16 members to the State legislature. . . . Every German knows that the Socialist-Workers Party is the post-war successor of Hitler's Nazis. . . . The aims and platform of the SRP are Hitler's. . . . Der Fuehrer is Dr. Fritz Doris, who even today boasts that he was a Nazi party member "to the very last" . . . His No. 2 man is Major General Otto Ernst Remer, who suppressed the July, 1944, attempt to assassinate Hitler. . . . The day before the lower Saxony elections Remer demanded revival of the "Fuehrer principle" in Germany through rule by the "Elite."

Although the American-sponsored Bonn government is making a half-hearted attempt to outlaw the SRP, Doris and Remer have declared that their party will "meet terror with terror" . . . Of course, the SRP is playing the Kremlin's game. . . . Said Remer in a recent speech: "Instead of letting our women

Commissioners Announce Appointments, Approve Salaries

Two Major Posts Not Yet Filled

County commissioners cleaned up most of the appointments and salary approvals before them yesterday in another all-day session.

Only two major posts remain unfilled: inspector of weights and measures and the Veterans Affairs office head.

Again the commissioners sat alternately as board of commissioners, salary board, and directors of the county institutional district to fill unannounced posts and approve salary scales.

Again Commissioners Amel F. Altomere, Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer were in agreement on most questions.

Some unfinished appointments disposed of yesterday were:

Harry Taylor, chief county clerk, was named secretary of the salary board and chief clerk and secretary of the county board of elections. Altomere was made chairman of the elections board.

Dr. John Martucci, Brodheadsville, was retained as county home physician at the same rates—$12 for his regular weekly call at the home, and $5 for each emergency call.

Elizabeth G. Martin was officially retained as county institution investigator at $100 a month. At the salary board session, President Judge Fred W. Davis moved that Miss Martin be raised from $75 to $100 monthly for duties as probation officer. The raise was granted.

Salaries for other members of the court's staff were continued at the previous rates of:

Frances J. Moore, secretary, $60 weekly; Gertrude L. Davis, assistant to Miss Martin, $40 weekly; court clerks and tipstaffs, $7 a day; road viewers, $9 a day; Probation Officer J. Clarence Shafer, $75 a month; court stenographer, mileage and expenses plus a maximum $15 a day; Milton Berger, janitor who cares for the offices of Judge Davis and Superior Court Judge Chester H. Rhodes, $34 weekly. The salary board, sitting with Judge Rhodes, approved a motion on the part of Judge Rhodes for a raise from $1,800 to $2,100 for his secretary, Marian Fabel. The $2,100 paid by the county constitutes only a portion of the secretary's salary.

Donald J. (Jack) Anderson, Swiftwater, was retained as assistant to Judge Davis in the judge's capacity as civil defense director. Anderson's salary is $30 weekly. Salary of George L. Smith, chief assessor, was set at $166.66 monthly—the same as last year.

Fees for the county engineer, Edward C. Hess, were approved at $3 an hour for actual services rendered.

Janitor Harry Walton was raised from $40 to $50 weekly, while janitor John Biggs' old salary of $45 was unchanged. (Biggs' compensation includes rent and heat.)

Other business: A request for contribution of county money to the American Legion's Youth center in East Stroudsburg was turned down; commissioners held they were not authorized to use public money for such purposes.

A Stroudsburg resident asked for coal and clothing; the commissioners told Miss Martin to investigate his case after a check with the Board of Public Assistance disclosed the man had failed to report for work when a job was offered.

The commissioners adjourned until 10 a.m. tomorrow when they will visit the county home as a group.

County Board Of Auditors Reelects Besecker President

Mahlon Besecker, widely known Paradise Valley resident, was elected chairman of the Board of County Auditors at the annual organizational meeting of the three-member board this week.

Mr. Besecker continues to set a record in public office service.

He has served 24 years as a county auditor, and has been chairman of the board ever since he held that post. The veteran auditor is now embarked on a new four-year term.

Prominent in Democratic politics in Monroe county many years, Mr. Besecker has also served his community as committeeman for a lengthy period.

His colleagues on the board of auditors—now functioning in their office on the second floor of the court house—are Mrs. Mary Garcia, Republican incumbent re-elected last November and John Wernett, Saylorburg, a Republican, who was elected to his first term in November.

Mrs. Garcia is now serving her third four-year term and followed her father, the late H. Layton Teeter to the post of county auditor. Mr. Teeter served two terms.

Corey Renamed Peace Justice At Greentown

Gov. John S. Fine yesterday reappointed Leslie Corey, of Greentown, as justice of the peace in Greene township, Pike county.

Corey is now filling an "existing vacancy" in the township. He did not run for re-election last year. Voters of the township elected only one justice of the peace during last year's elections.

Corey's term expired early this month.

East Borough Council Names New Auditor

East Stroudsburg borough council swung into its first business session of the year last night.

Resignation of Clifford Lambert as auditor was accepted, and Herbert Rapprecht, treasurer in 1951, was elected to replace him. Lambert's salary as the new borough treasurer was set at $360.

Council president Harold Wiggins named two committees: streets, with Jack A. Wyckoff as chairman, Vernon T. Gilliland and Charles Bueznli as members; and water, with Roy F. Lloyd as chairman, and Bueznli and Thomas Sexton as members.

Council ordered superintendent Henry Lesone to erect "No Parking At Any Time" signs on N. Courtland St. in front of the high school. The restricted zone will

Russell Scott Dies At 71 In Hospital

Russell D. Scott Sr., Marshalls Creek, died in Monroe County General hospital at 1:50 p.m. yesterday after an illness of 15 months. He was 71.

Born in Philadelphia, a son of the late Joseph and Anna Scott, he came to Monroe county in 1915, establishing a residence in East Stroudsburg.

Prior to that time he had worked for the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia.

Shortly after arriving in this county he became associated with the Scott-Worman Glass Co., East Stroudsburg. He later operated the Pocono Bottling Works in that borough.

In 1933, Mr. Scott bought the Mountain Manor at Marshalls Creek. The manor continued under his operation until the time of his death.

He attended Craig Meadows Lutheran church and was a member of the BPOE No. 319, East Stroudsburg.

Surviving are his wife, Frances; two sons, Melvin W. and Russell D. H. Marshalls Creek; four sisters, Misses Mary and Lora B. Scott, Philadelphia; Mrs. Robert Crawford, Philadelphia; Mrs. Edward Elome, Glen Ridge, N.J.; one brother, Walton Scott, Kingstons, N. J.; three grandsons and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek, with Rev. William F. Wunder, assisted by Rev. Harold C. Eaton, the officiating clergymen. Interment will be in St. Paul's Lutheran cemetery.

Friends may call at the manor Friday after 7 p.m.

Car Backing From Drive Strikes Boy

Robert Miller, 9, of 917 Eber St., Stroudsburg, suffered right ankle cuts and swelling on the forehead when he ran into a car at 5:30 p.m. yesterday at Arlington Heights.

Pfc. Alex G. Kearns of the Stroudsburg State police reported the boy, son of Mrs. I. Frances Miller, suffered the injuries in front of 930 N. Ninth St. The lad was treated by his family physician.

Pfc. Kearns said the car, driven by Clair Mansfield, 27, of the Ninth St. address, was backing out of his driveway at the time. The boy walked into the rear of the auto.

Stockholders Of Four Banks Elect Directors But Changes Noted In Only Two Instances

Stockholders of Monroe county's four banks met in annual sessions to elect directors who will be responsible for conduct of business during 1952.

Meetings were productive of a change at only one bank—Monroe County National—where two new directors were added to the governing board.

Charles F. Grace, Stroudsburg, and Merle E. Stevenson, Stroudsburg, were elected to the board of Monroe County National. Other directors re-elected are:

Frank D. Heller, Graydon D. Hoffman, Russell C. Hughes, Vernon M. Reynolds, Arlington W. Williams, G. Willard Stettler and Dale H. Leary.

Stockholders re-elected these directors at East Stroudsburg National Bank:

T. J. Breitwieser, Charles N. Thompson, Theodore Metzgar, Fred S. Wyckoff, Gaylord N. Carpenter, William M. Seguire, Fred W. Davis, Jesse R. S. Flory, Clifford M. Cramer.

Stroudsburg Security Trust Co. stockholders re-elected these directors:

C. D. Shull, Leon Pearsall, Frank S. LaBar, Howard L. Keiper, Montgomery F. Crowe, William A. Weber, Ralph Seig, Lloyd Altomere, Charles S. Flagger, Gerald M. Anderson, Paul L. Edinger and Frank B. Michaels.

First Stroudsburg National Bank stockholders re-elected these directors:

C. Raymond Bensinger, William R. Levering, Russell C. Cramer, Martin Serfass, Ralph Turn, Edward F. Smith, S. S. Shafer, A. J. Zabriske, Edward C. Hess, George Wendley, Roy M. Houser and Frank L. Stackhouse.

Directors of Stroudsburg Security Trust will meet Thursday for

Frederick Nidlund Remains Critical

Frederick Nidlund, 49-year-old Tannersville volunteer fireman, remained in "critical condition" last night at Monroe County General hospital.

Nidlund was taken to the hospital Sunday night following an accident near his home when he failed to see an oncoming car while running to answer a fire alarm. Nidlund ran into the side of the vehicle and suffered a fractured arm, fractured skull, cerebral concussions, broken ribs and other body injuries.

Operator of the vehicle was Arlett Butz, 33, of Bartonville, Star route.

Millard Slack Succumbs To Heart Attack

Millard Slack, Shawnee, died at General hospital yesterday afternoon, shortly after being removed there for treatment of a heart condition. He was 62 years old.

Born in Hackettstown, N.J., Mr. Slack had lived at Shawnee the past 40 years. He was employed as a caretaker by a Shawnee estate.

His wife, Emma Albert Slack, preceded him in death.

Surviving are one half-brother, Frank Thomas, 17 N. 10th St., in Stroudsburg, and one nephew, Ottmar Thomas, also of 10th St.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the funeral home of Daniel C. Warner, of Stroudsburg. Rev. Robert Bradburn officiating. Interment will be in Stroudsburg cemetery.

Friends may pay their respects Friday after 7 p.m. at the funeral home.

Sheathing Vital Part Of House

The old adage that "you can't judge a book by its cover" is particularly applicable to home construction, according to building experts. Many features that make for sound construction are not visible in the completed house, but they are nevertheless important. Among these is sheathing, the first layer of exterior wall covering.

Good sheathing is an essential part of a sturdy home, building authorities point out. Besides serving as a base for the wood, brick, stucco or other exterior facing, it should lend bracing strength to the building and afford protection from the weather. One of the materials widely used for this purpose in modern home construction is insulating board sheathing, which combines a high degree of all the necessary requirements and provides insulation as well.

Made of wood, cane or other tough vegetable fibres, it comes in large rigid sheets that are easy to handle and apply. Its unusual bracing strength is derived both from its size and its toughness of composition. Laboratory tests proved that 4x8-foot insulating board sheathing in 25-32-inch thickness has more than two and one-half times the bracing strength of ordinary sheathing applied horizontally, without bracing. Like ordinary sheathing, it is nailed directly to the frame work.

The growing popularity of insulating board sheathing probably is linked to the three distinct points of economy in its use. First, fuel costs are reduced because the insulation keeps the house warmer in winter, as well as cooler in summer. Second, the cost of the material itself usually is lower than that of ordinary sheathing. Third, savings are effected in insulation, since it can be applied quicker and with less waste.

Folding Doors Give Privacy

For the family with teen-agers whose home has an oversized living room but no recreation space, privacy for the adults of the family can be secured by installing one of the new folding partitions. These operate like an accordion and their fluted, plastic columns in various colors provide a distinctly modern decorative touch. They occupy only a few inches of space against the wall when not in use, quickly divide the room when desired. This idea also is helpful when it is necessary to use part of the living room for sleeping space, a popular practice since advent of the sofa-bed.

Wall Convectors Become Popular

In selecting heating equipment for schools, offices, libraries or similar buildings, wall-hung convector radiators are gaining more and more favor with architects and builders. Some wall-hung convectors have a 30-degree sloping top which prevents the placing of objects on the outlet heat grilles, thereby cutting off air circulation and reducing heat output. Wall-hung convectors usually are installed six inches or more from the floor and this provides ample clearance for easy floor cleaning.

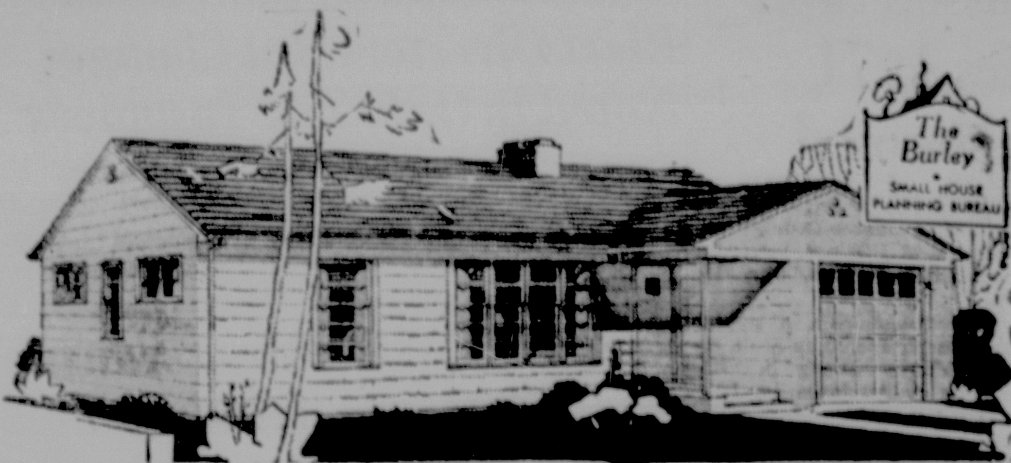

Mount Pocono

Mrs. L. T. Powers

The auxiliary of Pocono's Memorial Post 903 will meet on Wednesday night at 8 at the home of Mrs. John Sutton.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Sutton were: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Beemer and William Beemer, Clark Summit; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beagle, Baltimore, Md.; Miss Ruth Draughless, Langhorne; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Storm, Mountainhome; Mrs. Nellie Kelly and Mrs. James Farley, of New York.

Mrs. Laura Hughes is spending the remainder of the winter in Linden, Pa., at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ida Moore.

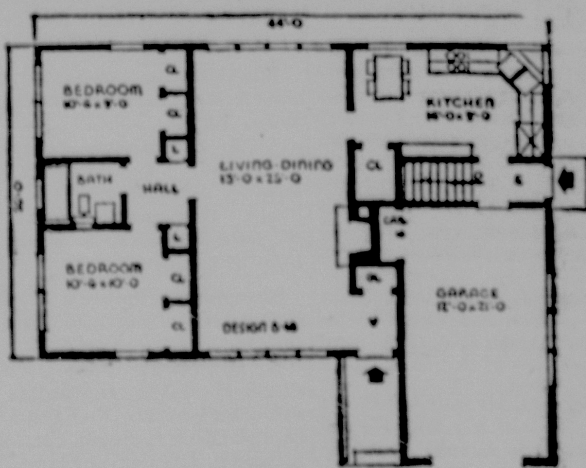

The Burley has a combination living-dining room which divides the service part of the house. This includes the sleeping rooms and attached garage.

To increase wall space, there are two high double-hung windows on one wall of each bedroom, in addition to a standard window. Each of the rooms, also has twin wardrobes. The bedroom hall has a linen and a general storage closet.

The kitchen has corner windows which give a two-way view over the sink and L-shaped cabinets. There is a large general closet and a storage cabinet on the inside wall and space for a breakfast set under the wide window.

The Burley's side vestibule serves as a buffer between the garage and house proper. It leads directly into the basement. A coat closet in the front vestibule and garage complete the storage space on the first floor.

The exterior walls of The Burley are finished with siding or shingles. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

Overall dimensions are 44 feet by 26 feet. There is a full basement. Exclusive of the garage, the plan contains 982 square feet and 19,149 cubic feet.

For further information about THE BURLEY write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Pastel Colors Gain In Favor

White is losing favor as a color for the exterior of a frame or brick house.

Paint dealers report that more home owners are painting their houses in colors, mostly pastels.

Most popular are gray, pale yellow, and green ranging from a pale to a medium tint. Browns and red-browns are popular for shingles.

Dealers say home owners are using color inside as well as outside. The new trend is to paint the woodwork the same color as the walls, instead of white or cream. Inside colors are darker too. Dealers say the deeper tones frequently make a room look larger.

Rainy Day Gym For Basement

In the home with small children, a basement corner can make an ideal rainy-day gym. Fit it out with swing, trapeze bar, flying rings and ladder hung from stout bolts in ceiling joists. Cover the concrete floor with asphalt tile to prevent dust and build a hopscotch court into the floor by using narrow feature strips of the tile to enclose numbered tiles which come in standard sizes. A stack shuf-board court of asphalt tile also can be made a part of the floor.

Put a regulation gymnasium mat beneath the trapeze and flying rings to ease falls.

If the play space is to be used by a boy, he probably will like a punching bag mounted low on the wall.

Use Drop Cloths While Painting

The use of drop cloths is absolutely necessary for the protection of floors and furniture when a room is being painted. In addition to the familiar fabric drop cloths, new types are available which are made of special paper material which is impregnated with a wax or resin. They are dust and liquid proof and it's easy to dispose of them.

Cost Averages $276

The FHA has insured more than 7,500,000 home improvement loans, thousands of which include insulation to save fuel in winter and make the home cooler in summer. The average insulation loan amounts to $276.

Ventilators Take Odors From Home

Sure, you like the tantalizing odor of cooking food, but do you ever stop to think what the grease from cooking does to your home? This grease will definitely raise your cost of living, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

That tantalizing odor, composed of minute parts of frying fat, moisture and smoke, is carried on air currents to every nook and cranny in your house or apartment. This greasy moisture is deposited as a film on your floors, walls, ceilings, draperies, curtains and furniture. It hinders your decorating costs; it penetrates your clothing to leave tell-tale stains. It gathers in closets and hallways to linger long after the food is consumed.

What to do about it? Electric ventilators, installed in outer wall of the kitchen, will remove this unwanted moisture before it has a chance to permeate your house, says the bureau.

The streamlined, modern ventilators are weather proof, quiet and are available in telescopic cabinets capable of fitting into any thickness of wall. Made of rust-resisting steel, these units operate smoothly, freely and keep out insects and cold air when the fan is not operating.

Modern ventilators in living rooms and bedrooms keep the house comfortable on summer nights by driving out hot, sticky daytime air and bringing in cool, invigorating nighttime air. More comfortable sleeping is the result. Filter-type ventilators supply fresh, filtered air while preventing entrance of ragweed pollen that plague the hayfever victim. They also remove 98 per cent of the dust and soot from incoming air and minimize street noises.

Don't worry about the ventilators causing static on your radio. There is no interference electrically when you start or stop the new ventilators. Air volume and direction can easily be controlled by a wall switch.

Glass For Decoration

Decorative glass is made in a large variety of patterns and may be used in the home for cabinet doors, wall partitions or many other purposes.

Prehistoric Indians left a pile of oyster shells in Maine estimated to contain 8,000,000 bushels of shells.

Money Drips Away

If a faucet drips 60 drops a minute, it adds up to 2299 gallons of water wasted a year.

Party Marks Anniversary At Pocono

Pocono Pines — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith yesterday celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with a party at their home. They were married in Scranton on January 8, 1927 with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kutzler as their attendants.

The ceremony was followed by a reception held at the home of the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Frank Smith of Pocono Pines.

The bride of 25 years ago is the former Miss Dorothy Hoffman.

They have one daughter, Carolyn.

Church School And Parents To See Two Films

Announcement has been made by the Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson indicating that two sound pictures will be shown to members of the church school and their parents tonight at 7 o'clock in the church school room.

These two films are of unusual high calibre and will be both entertaining and profitable to all who attend. This is the third showing in the series of sound pictures being presented at St. John's church for the youth of the church school and congregation.

The showing will last but one hour. The Luther league will hold its semi-monthly meeting following the showing of the pictures. A cordial invitation is extended to all young people to attend.

Plan Transportation

Members of the Women's Missionary Society of St. John's Lutheran church have been invited to join the members of Grace Lutheran church society on Thursday night at 8 o'clock for a program on Argentina. Local members will meet at St. John's at 7:30, where transportation to the church in East Stroudsburg will be provided.

Cherry Valley WSCS

Cherry Valley — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Cherry Valley Methodist church will meet in the Sunday school rooms at the church on Thursday with a dinner scheduled at noon and the business meeting at 2:30 p.m.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

"A Free Date is Hard to Find", might be the theme song of many a chairman trying to find an open night for a big meeting—or entertainment—or something special. It's not only hard to find but well-nigh impossible in this well-organized life which we lead.

For instance you'd better not pick January 10; that's the Temple Israel All-Star Revue; nor January 17, that's the annual dinner meeting of the Monroe County Historical society; nor February 6, 7 or 8 because that's HHS Pinafore.

And those are just special events with the regular ones coming along right on schedule. Doesn't even do you much good to select your date long in advance either, because something else is bound to land on the same night like the Stroudsburg Firemen and Band Parents, both committed to February 22.

And besides that you have to watch out for Dutch Treat and Community Concerts—though the concerts are all scheduled for spring, now.

Seems as if maybe we ought to have an electric billboard for social events as well as for skiing conditions. Except if all the winter's club activities were marked by little lights, it would have to be as big and as bright as the Christmas tree in Rockefeller plaza.

—Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

Congregation Of St. John's Reviews Year

Looking forward to the celebration of the 85th anniversary of St. John's Lutheran congregation, and the 25th anniversary of its pastor, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlson, and looking back on the gains of the past year, members attending the annual congregational meeting last night had much to discuss.

Dr. Wohlson presided at the meeting when Evan Kintz was elected as a trustee for three years and Alfred W. Munson, Miss Green and William Yost were elected deacons for three-year terms.

They will be installed at next Sunday morning's service, which will be followed by a reorganization meeting of the vestry.

April 27 was set as the date for the anniversary service, with special midweek ceremonies on April 30. The pastor's anniversary will be marked on May 4 when sons of the congregation who have become ministers are expected to take part.

Included in the reports of the past year was the organization of a Luther league of 24 members of which Mrs. Dolores Decker and Miss Kathryn Yost are counselors. The church also has a Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops.

There are 28 members of the and two Cub packs. congregation in the Armed forces. It was reported. Reports also showed that the church had met both its apportionment and its Lutheran World Action quota in full and was within a few hundred dollars of its fund for Higher Education.

Junior and chancel choirs were organized during the year, and suitably robed, and a report of increase in church school attendance during the year was given.

The congregation now numbers 1,010 members, and the pastor, during the past year, officiated at 17 funerals, 16 weddings and baptized 20 infants.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the A. F. Everitt class.

Band Parents Cake Walks Discussed

At the special meeting of the Stroudsburg Band Parents, called for last Monday night, the committee in charge of the cake walk and bazaar planned for February 22 discussed the possibility of changing the date of the cake walk in order not to conflict with the Washington's Birthday dance which the Stroudsburg firemen have planned for that same night.

However another free night could not be found, so the committee decided to hold the cake walk on that date. It will begin at 7:30 and there will be ample time for the public to attend both affairs if they so desire.

Mrs. M. R. Stevenson, chairman of the committee, reported that Ernest Mischeider and Harold VanWhy would be in charge of the mechanics of the cake walk.

There was an excellent attendance and much enthusiasm for the project.

Parsonage Recalls Six Past Weddings

Bartonsville — Recalling memories of past events in the Hamilton Lutheran parsonage, members of the Berean class of St. John's Lutheran church, Bartonsville, meeting there discovered that all the members present Friday night had been married by the same minister, and all but one of them had been married in the parsonage itself.

Rev. C. W. T. Strasser, who now lives on Ninth Street, in Stroudsburg, had performed the six weddings while he was pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran church. One of the weddings, that of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marsh, had been performed at St. John's Lutheran church in Bartonsville.

At the meeting the other night, the first for 1952, officers were re-elected for the coming year, and the opening devotions were led by Mrs. Joseph Starnes. The Bible study was conducted by Rev. John Bergstresser.

Officers re-elected included Mrs. Joseph Starnes, president; Mrs. Clyde Beecher, vice president; Mrs. Richard Metzgar, secretary; Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, treasurer.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Aoe, of Snyder'sville on February 1.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Starnes, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dunbar, Mrs. Sally Harps, Mrs. Archie Aoe, Mrs. Daisy Allegar and the hosts, Rev. and Mrs. John Bergstresser, who served refreshments after the meeting.

Music Club Echoes Music Of 1800

The Music Study club last night brought to life again the music of the turn of the 18th century into the 18th. Mrs. William R. Lovejoy described the setting of the 17th century with instrumental music to the fore.

Mrs. Theodore Hsu sang three illustrated songs: "Lament" by Monteverdi; "Le Florida e Fedele" and "Le Violette," both by Scarlatti, with Mrs. Levering as her accompanist. The instrumental music of the period was illustrated by the violin solo of Numa Snyder, guest artist, who played three movements from the concert, Vivaldi Nachez, with Mrs. Fred Quig as his accompanist.

Mrs. Theodore Hsu gave the background of 18th century music and introduced the numbers sung by Mrs. Burton George: "Caro Mio Ben," Gordini; "La Girometta," by Sibella; and "Allegria," by Mozart, accompanied by Mrs. Loring Cramer. Mrs. Wilbur Reinhardt played two piano solos with a harpsichord treatment: "Giga" by Correlli and "Rondeau des Songes" by Rameau.

Before the program Miss Ruth Martin reviewed another chapter of "Gospel in Hymns" giving those of James Montgomery, third in line with most hymns still published and the music of the Oxford movement in England and Latin hymns.

Siptroth Returns To Naval Hospital

Gerald A. Siptroth, F.C. 3, U.S. Navy, has returned to the Naval hospital at San Diego, Cal., after a 30-day leave at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Enoch B. Siptroth, of East Stroudsburg.

Injured in an accident on the West Coast, he was allowed to come home for the holidays—the first Christmas at home in five years. He will have been in the Navy 5 years on March 17 and plans to enlist for six more years.

His trip to the coast was made by plane. He left the Allentown airport at 6:30 Thursday night and arrived in California Friday at 7:30 a.m.

Christmas In The Congo Is Quite Different

Cherry Lane — An all-black Christmas pageant and a crew of chanting natives in place of a tow-car were two of the many differences in the pre-Christmas season in the Belgian Congo in Africa of which Miss Bobby Hartman wrote her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hartman, in a letter written the day before Christmas.

Miss Hartman, now in the mission field, described the Christmas pageant, given by the native students at the school with a little help from the staff, and also told of the graduation exercises at the school for students training for teachers. The class was predominantly boys, although one girl held out for graduation before marriage at 14, which is the more general rule.

She told also of a 500 mile trip through the Lodia district where the party visited more than 16 native villages to hold prayer services. Although the trip was through buffalo and elephant country, the party didn't see either animal.

The trip was not without excitement, however. A heavy rain caused their vehicle to go off the road where it mired down and could not be moved. Some of the party went to the nearest village where the chief summoned many men by his drumbeat message of the missionary's plight. The men chanted as they worked and lifted the car back on the road to the rhythm of their song.

Local WSCS, Has Speaker On Japan

The city of Nagasaki, Japan, and its rebuilding rather than its destruction by the atom bomb was the emphasis of the talk given by Miss Alice F. Boyer and illustrated with slides at the joint meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Services and the Wesleyan Guild of the Stroudsburg Methodist church held Monday night.

Miss Boyer, who recently returned from three years as a missionary in Japan, is spending a year in study in this country before returning for another five years in Japan.

The meeting opened with devotions led by Mrs. William Davis. Mrs. James Toner sang two solos, "I Want to Walk Where Jesus Walked" and "The Lord's Prayer" with Mrs. Merlin Ruff as her accompanist.

During the business meeting Mrs. William Kraemer reported that $225 had been realized from the Christmas bazaar. Mrs. Nelson Frantz announced that the WSCS Study group would meet January 28 at the church when Mrs. W. R. Levering would lead the study and a film on "Mexico—Far Away Land Near-by" will be shown.

A social hour followed the program with Mrs. George Sebring and her committee in charge of refreshments.

Mizpah Class Meeting

The Mizpah Bible class of the East Stroudsburg Baptist church will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in the Sunday school rooms.

No fair glancing over the paragraphs below to find the answers. . . this is a guessing game! I'm thinking of several articles of merchandise today, all of which stand side by side in one of Wyckoff's most important departments, and I'll give you a clue to each trade name. How shopping-wise are you?

The first article has a name that has been associated with great strength since Biblical times. The second bears the name of a great American statesman around whom so many legends are centered. One thinks of him whenever the words "almshouse", "bum", "proverbs", "key", and "dile", are mentioned. The third is that under which the head is uneasy . . . and the fourth is something on which wishes are made and to which nursery rhymes are written. All of these items have to be standing still. They were designed to move in circles . . . the very finest circles.

Give up? Well, all of them are luggage . . . the kind you'd be proud to have as a traveling companion either on a flight to Bermuda or an overnight visit to the country. Each is distinguished for handsome rayon acetate linings beautifully stitched. The first is Samsonite . . . strong enough to stand or sit upon, and every case is as lovely as a jewel box. Samsonite comes in tan, blue, green, brown, or natural rawhide, and is practically indestructible. Prices range from $17.50 for a train case or vanity or nite, to $27.50 for a 26 inch pullman case. And for those who like luggage to be a family affair there are men's cases in matching shades of tan and brown.

The second clue pertains to Franklin luggage, which is created in tweedy effects over sturdy wooden frames. An outstanding feature here is a zippered pocket designed to hold damp goods . . . wash cloths, tooth brushes, etc. etc. Removable, this can be readily cleaned and aired.

Crown luggage and White Star are two other splendid trade names, and prices vary with size from $15.95 to $29.95. All of these manufacturers offer plastic-hide coverings to insure against scuffing. And each presents a wonderful case . . . in favor of a vacation NOW!

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

East Stroudsburg High school's athletic department lost a friend recently upon the death of Bob Hartman, well known plumbing contractor in Monroe county and surrounding territory. Although ill for the past several years, Bob has given both his time and material for the furthering of athletics at the N. Courtland St. school, especially football. Hartman will probably always be remembered as the sponsor of Memorial stadium, but he also did other things worth mentioning at this time.

Bob donated all the railing around the large grand stand at the stadium, and also constructed the railing free of charge to the school. A hot water boiler, to be used when shower rooms are constructed under the stands, was also presented to the school by Hartman. Bob also designed and constructed the whirlpool bath now being used by the athletes of East Stroudsburg High school.

Hartman also did many other things for the school, too numerous to mention, but probably the greatest thing he did during the early days of football was stick by the club, despite the fact that it was losing many more games than it was winning. Bob did a lot for the school, more than can ever be measured in terms of dollars and cents, and his passing will be sadly missed in many corners.

Lou Baselle, new owner of the Scranton baseball entry in the class "A" Eastern league, arrived in Scranton yesterday to confer with his chief publicity agent, Frank Silva, during the next couple of days. The talks are expected to center on future plans for the club. An official announcement concerning the 1952 pilot is expected to be made in the very near future.

Honesdale moved out in front of the Wayne County Conference on Monday night with a 34-32 victory over Moscow, a contingent that continues to surprise veteran followers of the circuit. Alden "Red" Fetherman, captain of the Stroudsburg High school cage machine was unable to face Emmaus due to intestinal gripe. The Blue Mountain league is busily planning one of its best banquets in the history of the circuit.

Clarence "Chief" Boston former assistant football coach at Harvard and present head man at New Hampshire, is a member of the rules committee of the American Football Coaches association. Boston will be remembered as one of the prominent figures at a recent Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches association clinic, held annually at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Tannersville, Tobyhanna and West End are urged to have a representative on hand for tonight's meeting of the Pocono Mountains Basketball league, at the Monroe County YMCA. The circuit will select the fourth team to take part in the action this year at this meeting, which is listed for 8 p. m.

Members of both the Coolbaugh and Barrett High school basketball teams were on hand last night to see Tobyhanna Township take the measure of Greene-Dreher-Sterling in an overtime session, 54-52. The remainder of the league is out to learn all it can, in an effort to stop TTHS short of its third straight title. The circuit opens its doors on Friday.

Junior High Trips Portland

East Stroudsburg Junior High school's seventh and eighth grade cage machine opened its season with a convincing 45-12 victory over Portland yesterday, on the winning contingent's hardwood.

High Scorers — Bob Miller led the East Stroudsburg attack that found the home team holding a five-point lead at the end of the first period and increasing its edge during the remaining three rounds. The winning aggregation reached its peak in the third period, when the Cavaliers accounted for 21 points.

Wilson Comes From Behind To Nip East Stroudsburg

Cavaliers Fail To Hold Early Lead

Wilson Borough — A highly favored Wilson Borough quintet was extended to the limit last night before a second half rally carried the charges of Coach Ed Snyder to a thrill-packed 39-37 verdict over East Stroudsburg High, in a Lehigh-Northampton League contest. The game was played on the Wilson hardwood.

The home team enjoyed a perfect night as the Wilson yearlings won the junior varsity encounter over East Stroudsburg 53-37.

East Stroudsburg was in the driver's seat during the first and second periods but relinquished the controls to Wilson Borough during the final 16 minutes of action.

Jack Tredinnick accounted for seven of his eight points in the first period to pace the Cavaliers into an 11-7 advantage at the end of the initial eight minutes of action.

Sport

Dick Newton, who made good on six of six foul shots during the game, tossed in four straight in the middle of the second round to give the Cavaliers the gas needed to lead at halftime, 24-15, with a 13-8 edge during the second stanza.

However, Wilson put its superior height to good advantage during the second half and turned what looked like its second league reversal into its fourth favorable verdict. East Stroudsburg has now won a single game and dropped to a pair against circuit competition.

Wilson, paced by Bob Stull, warmed up to its task by gaining a 14-6 edge during the third round, enabling the Cavaliers to limp into the final quarter on the long end of a 30-29 count.

However, the Snydermen quickly moved into the lead and held the advantage by outscoring the visiting Cavaliers down the stretch, 10-7.

East Stroudsburg made nine of 13 shots from the foul line, while Wilson hit on five of ten chances from the same distance.

Newton took over the high scoring role for the Cavaliers with 12 counters, while Stull, with 13 points, led the Wilson attack.

St. Bonaventure Wins

Buffalo, N. Y. (AP) — Undeclared St. Bonaventure, eighth in the Associated Press poll, defeated Canisius, 76 to 61, last night for its eighth victory. The University of Buffalo nipped Niagara, 80 to 78, in the first game to make its record 12-2. A turnaway crowd of 11,977 saw the Memorial Auditorium doubleheader.

St. Louis Upset

St. Louis (AP) — A free throw by Dick Peterson in the last two minutes of the second overtime period gave Bradley's aroused Braves a 57-56 upset victory last night over St. Louis University, fifth-ranked in this week's Associated Press poll.

Jets Bow To Fisher's Five

Fisher's basketball aggregation used a good first half and a strong finish to take the measure of the Pocono Jets, 60-43, last night in a Senior Y league contest at the Monroe County YMCA.

Upper Hand

The ultimate winner held the upper hand throughout the contest, although the Jets had the better of the going in the third round, 13-8. Fisher's crew was out in front at halftime, 33-19, and then wound up with a 19-11 spurt during the final eight minutes of action.

Bruce Frantz led the attack for the Jets with 15 points, but Conrad, with 18 markers, was the big gun in a winning cause.

May's Goal In Overtime Gives TTHS Nod Over Greene-Dreher

Pocono Pines—A one-handed shot from side court, 15 feet from the nets, by Merlin May, with only seconds remaining in the overtime period, enabled Tobyhanna Township to protect its undefeated record last night with a thrilling 54-52 verdict over victory-hungry Greene-Dreher-Sterling.

Sterling, in a contest played here on the winning team's home floor, TTHS made a clean sweep of hostilities by winning the Junior varsity encounter also, by a 31-28 count over the Greene-Dreher, Sterling yearlings.

The home aggregation held a one-point lead, 50-49, until virtually the end of the game, when Kinney stepped to the foul line and deadlocked the score with a charity conversion.

Hot Pace

Play which had raged on even terms, except for a brief lapse by the visiting Stags in the third round, continued at the same pace during the extra stanza.

Fred Blakeslee and "Buddy" Judge connected on foul shots to give the maroon and gold the first two points in the overtime grind, while John Barry connected with the Stags' only goal from the floor during the extra round.

TTHS took great strides toward victory from the foul line, converting on 16 of 29 attempts, while Greene-Dreher could account for only 14 conversions in 35 attempts from the same distance.

Mountaineers Drop Second League Tilt

Emmaus — Stroudsburg High, playing without the services of Captain Alden "Red" Fetherman, who is confined to bed with the gripe, went down to its second straight Lehigh Valley league setback last night, 63-41, at the hands of a ball-hawking Emmaus High quintet.

The green and white Emmaus colors went to the top of the victory pole on two occasions last night, as the home town junior varsity took the measure of the Stroudsburg yearlings, 66-49.

Just as they did against Palmerston last week, the Mountaineers moved out in front at the end of the first stanza, this time by a 14-9 count, only to blow the contest sky high in the second round.

Bad Period

Mixing a solid defense with a good offense, Palmerston held an 11-1 edge during the second round, as Stroudsburg was held to one foul conversion by Dave "Muscles" Everitt during the second eight-minute interval.

The green wave splashed all over the scoreboard during the second half, holding a 23-16 edge during the third stanza and then putting the contest on ice with a 20-10 advantage during the last period, as Terry Letterhouse and Rollie Houseknecht led the attack.

Stroudsburg had trouble from the foul line, missing the nets on only seven of 20 attempts, while Emmaus made good on 11 of 17 charity shots.

Karl Weingartner and Jack Newell took care of the high scoring honors for Stroudsburg, putting 13 and ten markers in the scoreboard respectively, while Letterhouse and Houseknecht, with 21 and 13 tallies, were the big guns in the victory parade.

East Mauch Chunk Rallies To Trip Chestnuthill Foe, 38-24

Brodheadsville—Chestnuthill High school faltered in the second half here last night and wound up on the short end of a 38-24 count against the East Mauch Chunk High school alumni contingent, on the losing team's home court. There was only one game played.

The home team battled the highly regarded visitors on even terms during the first eight minutes, as each team came up with a total of six points. Chestnuthill moved out in front at halftime, 13-12, by holding a 7-6 edge during the second round.

Different Story

However, during the third and fourth rounds the Chestnuthill contingent couldn't stand the pressure as the visiting machine dominated the third period, 14-8 and the final stanza, 12-3.

Chestnuthill made six of 11 shots from the foul line, while East Mauch Chunk connected from the same distance on ten of 16 attempts.

Bob Serfass, scoring four goals and eight points from the outside, paced the losing offensive, while Tom Campbell came up with nine counters in a winning cause.

Bolt Captures Los Angeles Open

Los Angeles (AP) — North Carolina's Tommy Bolt won the rich playoff of the $17,500 Los Angeles Open golf tournament yesterday with a brilliant score of 69 that cracked par by two strokes and the hopes of his rivals for the $4,000 top money, Jack Burke Jr. and E. J. "Dutch" Harrison.

Turning what had been a tight duel for nine holes into an utter rout on the way home, 32-year-old Bolt from Durham wound up two strokes in front of Burke and his par 71, and five ahead of the veteran Harrison's 74.

Sala Gains Verdict

Pittsburgh, (AP) — Lee Sala, 163-pound Donora scrapper, won an easy ten-round decision last night from Tony Masciarelli, 164, of New York at the Flamingo Arena here. Sala won every round but emerged from the rough and tumble battle with cuts underneath each eye.

Trumatic, Lemons Drop Cage Verdicts

Biggs' Restaurant and Frank's Barber Shop scored favorable verdicts in the Senior High League at the Monroe County YMCA yesterday afternoon. The Restaurant five squeezed the Lemons, 51-44, while Frank's contingent ran over Trumatic Tool, 75-32.

Only the first game had a measure of doubt connected with the final score, as Biggs' Restaurant and the Lemons alternated quarters during which one or the other of the teams had the advantage. However, the Restaurant contingent had the better of the going by a margin of seven points when the final tabulation had been completed.

Ran Wild

Frank's contingent ran wild in the second game, while holding the upper hand throughout the battle. The winning aggregation hit its peak in the third round, when the Barbers scored a total of 25 points.

Hirsch Unanimous All-Pro Choice

By Frank Eck

New York (AP) — Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch, a former halfback who hit the jackpot as an end, yesterday was the only unanimous selection on the Associated Press All-Pro football team.

The 27-year-old left end from Berea, O., a sensation for the National Football League championship Los Angeles Rams during a long season, drew a vote from AP sports writers in all ten league cities. The former collegiate star as a halfback with Michigan and Wisconsin and a back with the defunct Chicago Rockets was the only athlete to gain this honor.

The All-Pro team, selected after every game had been played, included 22 players or two platoons in view of the fact that coaches no longer expect their aces to play both offense and defense.

The two-platoon team comprised players from eight of the 12 NFL squads.

The Detroit Lions, who by losing their final missed the National Conference division title, placed three men on the offensive eleven. They were guard Lou Creekmur of Woodbridge, N.J., and Leon Hart of Turtle Creek, Pa., and Dock Walker of Dallas.

The Cleveland Browns, beaten by the Rams, 24-17, in the playoff, placed quarterback Otto Graham of Cleveland and halfback Dub Jones of Ruston, La., on the offensive squad. The Chicago Bears also had a pair on the attacking team—tackle George Connor and guard Dick Barwegen.

The remaining offensive men are center Vic Lindskog of the Philadelphia Eagles, tackle Leo Nomellini of the San Francisco 49ers and fullback Eddie Price of the New York Giants.

The Giants regarded by many coaches as football's defensive giant, placed four men on the defensive array—tackles Arnie Weinmeister and Al DeRogatis, halfback Otto Schnellbacher and safety Emilen Tunnell.

Other defensive All-Pro are end Larry Brink and linebacker Paul "Tank" Younger of the Rams, guard Bill Willis and end Les Bink gaman of the Lions, linebacker Charles "Chuck" Bednarik of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Repeaters from the 1950 All-Pro team are Connor, Barwegen, Weinmeister, Bednarik and Walker. For Barwegen, a former member of the Baltimore Colts, it marked his fourth straight year as All-Pro. Weinmeister, a former Yank Hutson, Hirsch broke Hutson's mark with two games remaining on the schedule.

Hirsch was the big man the day the Rams clinched the National Conference crown. In a 42-14 victory over Green Bay he scored touchdowns on pass plays that stretched 73, 37 and 19 yards.

In Chicago against the Bears, "Crazy Legs" scored on a 91-yard pass play. Against the 49ers he scored on a 76-yard play. After making a circus catch of a 45-yard pass he shook off two tacklers and went the remaining 31 yards unmolested.

In Detroit, Hirsch ran 70 yards with a Bob Waterfield pass in a 27-21 win over the Lions.

Hart, at the other offensive end, shook off tackle after tackle in catching 35 aeriels. On 12 of them he went for TD's. He and Jones both made 72 points, seventh best figure in the league.

Walker, leading scorer as a rookie in 1950, ranked third in 1951 with 97 points. Price, the league's leading ball carrier, gained 965 yards on 272 attempts. He shattered by nine Steve Van Buren's record of 263 carries with the Eagles.

ESSTC Cage Machine Returns To Action On Panzer Court

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College will return to the basketball court tonight after a long layoff for the Christmas holidays, when the Warriors clash with Panzer College, on the latter's home court in East Orange, N. J.

Only the ESSTC varsity will make the trip, leaving Normal Hill at 5:30 p. m. The game is scheduled to get under way at 8:15.

Record

ESSTC at the present time is sporting a record of two wins and a trio of setbacks, having won over Kutztown and Ithaca College, while falling before Fairleigh-Dickinson, Wilkes College and Trenton State Teachers.

Coach Ed Shay didn't announce a starting lineup last night, but Bill Schmidt and Dan Dinan are expected to operate out of the forward berths, while Jim Hawley and Joe Maiorillo handle the guard positions. The center duties are expected to be divided between Frank "Whitey" Whitecavage and Bill Coleman.

Following tonight's action the Warriors will remain idle until Saturday, January 26, when Millersville invades the ESSTC gymnasium.

Biddy Basketball Tilts

Two contests are on tap for the Biddy Basketball league at the Monroe County YMCA today. Line Material and Nash Ramblers clash at 4 p. m., while Wyckoff-Sears and Colonial Diner tangle at 4:40.

Guy Robinson To Campaign For Congress

Scranton, (AP)—State Sen. Guy B. Robinson yesterday announced he is a candidate for the newly-created 10th Congressional district next year, and started a district Eisenhower drive in the Scranton area.

Announcing his candidacy, the 61-year-old Republican leader said: "I will take a definite stand for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president of the United States and will sponsor a drive in northeast Pennsylvania for the general's candidacy."

The new congressional district, set up by the 1951 Legislature will include Lackawanna, Pike, Wayne, Susquehanna and Sullivan counties.

Senator Robinson is serving his first term in the State Senate. He represents the 23rd district comprising Susquehanna, Bradford and Wyoming counties.

Joseph L. Carrige, Susquehanna lawyer sworn in yesterday in Washington as a new member of the House of Representatives, previously announced he will seek a full term next year. He was elected last November to fill the unexpired term of Rep. Wilson D. Gillette (R-Pa.) Gillette died last year.

Lions Club Pays Tribute To Hartman

Stroudsburg Lions, meeting last night at Gap View Inn, heard a eulogy of the late Robert M. Hartman, pronounced by President T. Manning Curtis and on motion of Dr. James Gavin, a resolution of sorrow and sympathy was adopted. This will be spread on the records and a copy sent to Mrs. Hartman. Other Lions also paid tribute to Mr. Hartman, a member of the club at the time of his death.

Dick Groner expressed his thanks for assistance given in assistance to underprivileged children for Christmas. Bob Haigh reported that in the distribution of Christmas toys during the holiday season, 299 children representing 72 families were assisted.

Elmer Rinehart told the "story of the week."

Dr. Gavin suggested that the system of meeting be changed from weekly as at present, to semi-monthly. A brief discussion took place and on suggestion of Ed Driebe, it was laid over until the next meeting.

President Curtis told of the coming zone ladies' night which will be held Friday, January 25 at the Penn-Stroud hotel.

District Governor Elton Hall brought up the matter of the coming state and international conventions to be held, respectively at Pittsburgh and Mexico City. He suggested that delegates to the international event be elected at this time. A brief discussion followed and the matter was laid over for one week.

Union Must Pay Company $750,000.

Washington (AP)—The Supreme court decided Monday that Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's union will have to pay $750,000 in damages to an Alaska lumber company.

The Juneau Spruce Co. of Juneau, Alaska, sued under the Taft-Hartley labor act, charging that picketing and coercive statements by the union damaged its business.

Law Provides Treatment For Sex Offenders

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine yesterday signed into law legislation providing for the sentencing of sex offenders to an indefinite term in State mental institutions rather than prison.

The measure would require psychiatric examinations of all persons convicted of sex offenses. The findings would be turned over to the courts for final action.

Persons committed to State institutions for treatment would be held for unlimited periods, depending on recommendations of the State Parole board. The measure originally permitted appeals on adverse board decisions but this was amended to give the board final jurisdiction.

The legislation provides for psychiatric treatment for persons adjudged "true sex deviates" by the examination. Persons convicted of a sex crime not involving abnormality would be given a specified prison sentence.

Fine Endorses Vote Campaign

Harrisburg, (AP)—The Federated Legislative committee yesterday said its campaign to get out the "church vote" has been "enthusiastically endorsed" by Gov. John S. Fine.

The organization of church groups pushed a letter from Fine as saying: "It is a good sign to see our Christian churches alerted to invite all their members to assume full citizenship duties."

Your Horoscope Today
By FRANCIS DRAKE

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1952
March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Today can be intriguing, interesting, and profitable to some degree if you handle your tasks carefully, both great and small. Accuracy, patience, wise consistency may be needed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Should be agreeably surprised at many results you will be in cheerful, hopeful state of mind. Don't permit others to discourage or dampen your enthusiasm. Fine work possible.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—May have to work harder to produce, or put out, to some ideas, but patience and persistence are good for fast thinking and moving Geminitians. Be amenable to sound advice, too.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—All wishes may not be forthcoming now, but you should be spurred on by inner faith, and know that careful of feelings and patient endeavor are powerful aids to accomplishment.

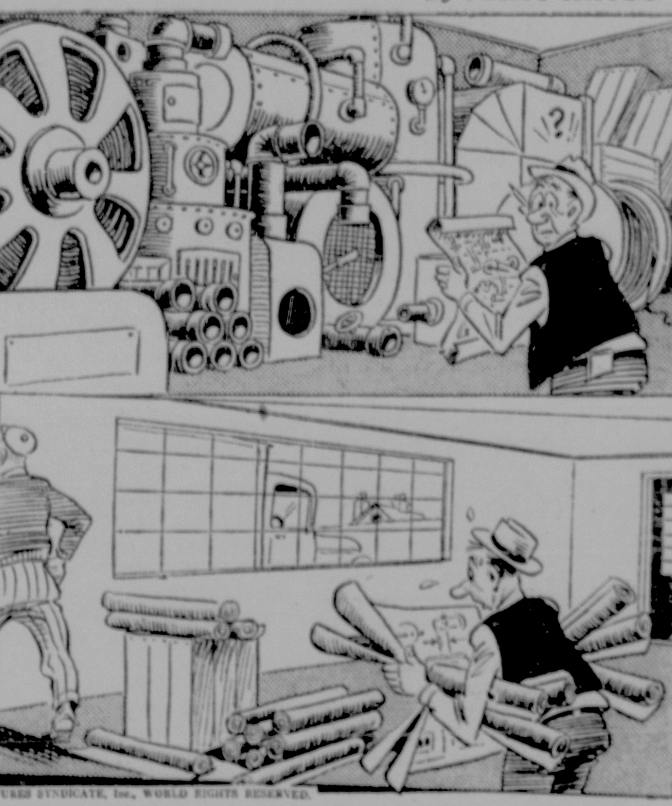

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—As with Gemini and others now, you will find it more if you keep enthusiasm with you in productive, albeit slow, bounds. Plan, carry, heed requirements, fulfill duties faithfully.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Can be a period for extensive improvements, especially in manufacturing and building of machinery, materials, all items of urgency. Don't worry if mental and home tasks seem less easy.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—A day packed with possibilities for you who are willing to search them out and then go to work on them, make them produce. Common sense, some of your own intuition, and a way you go.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1952
March 21 to April 19 (Aries)—Today can be intriguing, interesting, and profitable to some degree if you handle your tasks carefully, both great and small. Accuracy, patience, wise consistency may be needed.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Should be agreeably surprised at many results you will be in cheerful, hopeful state of mind. Don't permit others to discourage or dampen your enthusiasm. Fine work possible.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—May have to work harder to produce, or put out, to some ideas, but patience and persistence are good for fast thinking and moving Geminitians. Be amenable to sound advice, too.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—All wishes may not be forthcoming now, but you should be spurred on by inner faith, and know that careful of feelings and patient endeavor are powerful aids to accomplishment.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—As with Gemini and others now, you will find it more if you keep enthusiasm with you in productive, albeit slow, bounds. Plan, carry, heed requirements, fulfill duties faithfully.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Can be a period for extensive improvements, especially in manufacturing and building of machinery, materials, all items of urgency. Don't worry if mental and home tasks seem less easy.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—A day packed with possibilities for you who are willing to search them out and then go to work on them, make them produce. Common sense, some of your own intuition, and a way you go.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)

Six Students To Debate UMT Subject

Six students of Stroudsburg High school's U. S. history class are scheduled to present a debate before the entire student body Friday at 11 a. m. on the subject "Universal Military Training Should Go Into Effect."

The students are divided into two groups—three arguing the affirmative; the remaining three discussing negative issues.

Taking the affirmative side are Michael Sharlot, Jeff Crane and Marlyn Learn, with James Ifft, James Barthold and Diane Lee arguing the negative point of view.

Moderator for the debate will be Lynne Slaboski with Eugene Anglemeyer acting as timekeeper.

Samuel Russell and Carlton Berger will serve as faculty advisers to the group for the affirmative with Miss Lillian Stark acting in a similar capacity for students on the negative side.

State Upholds Draemel's Pay

Harrisburg (AP)—M. F. Draemel, State forests and waters secretary, is legally entitled to his $15,000 salary, the State Justice department said yesterday.

The department made a ruling in the case yesterday in answer to a question raised by Sen. Joseph J. Yosko (D-Northampton).

Yosko challenged the legality of the reappointment of Draemel by Gov. John S. Fine after the State Senate had refused confirmation.

The Justice department, however, advised the auditor general that there is a Supreme court precedent to permit the payment of Draemel's salary.

In another ruling, the department said judges should be paid their annual salaries this year on the basis of an official year, running from Jan. 7 to next Jan. 7 instead of a calendar year.

Kresgeville
Mrs. W. E. Andrews

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smale entertained all their children and grandchildren at a dinner. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Smale, daughters, Patzy and Kay, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Snyder, children Helen, Nancy, Fred and Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Vane Smale, children, Barbara, Gloria, Robert and Vane Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Merritt George, and Donald Smale.

The following called on Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Snyder: Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Snyder, daughter Lonnie, Saylorsburg, Mrs. Maria Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westcott, children, Walter Jr. and Janet, Stroudsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parsons, and children, East Greenville, and Kermit Kreimoyer Jr., Nazareth.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Lutheran church held their annual Christmas party on Dec. 27. After a gift exchange, refreshments were served and a business session followed. All the officer were re-elected: president, Mrs. H. A. Shaffer; treasurer, Mrs. W. D. Kunkle; secretary, Mrs. Jonas Snyder; market designer, Mrs. Lizzie Smith. All members are urged to attend the quilting on Saturday afternoon in the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Smale served a turkey dinner to the following on New Year's day. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smale, son, Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Snyder, children, Helen, Nancy, Fred and Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Vane Smale, children, Barbara, Gloria, Robert and Junior, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt George.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Kreimoyer called on Robert Stout who is a patient in the Palmyra hospital.

Clarence Backenstoe, Catawago, Dean Semmel, Lehighton and Robert Williams, Allentown called on R. M. Andrews.

Lloyd Feller is on the sick list. Mrs. Theodora Beers, son Richard called on her daughter, Mrs. David Serfass and family, Dotters Corner.

door of this stone and stucco home, to see that it offers an exceptional value. The large living room with its stone fireplace, is naturally attractive. The adjoining sunroom with its outside entrance, affords
Dad and his television an excellent hideout. A tastefully decorated dining room, cheerful kitchen and lavatory complete the first floor.
Examine the woodwork in the three second floor bedrooms and bath, and you will know that it is a well built home. A-1 cond. lot, lotter.
Landscaped and electric range are included. The lot is 50 by 150 feet, and on the rear of the house is a two car stone garage. Its price of $15,000 is far below the value placement and you will find that it is well worth inspection.

Mrs. Kuntz, East Borough, Dies At Home

Mrs. Mary Ann Kuntz, 181 Annomink St., East Stroudsburg, died at her home at 10:45 a. m. yesterday. She had been in failing health for a number of years.

A former resident of Shippensburg, Pa., and a graduate of the normal school there, Mrs. Kuntz had lived in East Stroudsburg the past 25 years. She had been a teacher in public schools at Dauphin, Pa., for a period of five years.

She was a member of the local DAR and was active in the Monroe County Garden club, the Women's club and the Stroudsburg Women's Guild. She was a member of Grace Lutheran church, East Stroudsburg.

Surviving are her husband, Elmer E. Kuntz, former superintendent of schools in East Stroudsburg; three daughters, Mrs. Melva K. Reid, East Stroudsburg; Miss E. Lenora Kuntz, East Orange, N. J.; and Mrs. Delmar Althoff, Amarillo, Texas; a grandson, Robert K. Reid, East Stroudsburg; two nieces and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Grist, Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Melva Howard, Valhalla, N. Y.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at Lanterman funeral home, Rev. William F. Wunder officiating. Interment will be in Prospect cemetery.

Program Given At Wooddale

Anatomink—The Wooddale Sunday school presented a Christmas program, with the following taking part in the recitations: Pamela Jacobus, Shirley Miller, Ann Mosier, Gary Weidman, Bonnie Miller, Delia Miller, Charles Miller, Gwendolyn Cramer, Ronald Miller, Jacquelyn Miller, Ronald Miller, Evelyn Cramer, John Lesoine, Patricia Weidman, Donald Hoover, and Richard Lesoine. Exercise "Say It With A Song" by Pamela Jacobus, Bonnie Miller, and Jacquelyn Miller. Exercise "Christmas" by Ronald Miller, John Lesoine and Lynn Lesoine. Exercise "Our Christmas Gifts" by Gwendolyn Cramer, Evelyn Cramer and Patricia Weidman. Dialogues were given by Gwendolyn Cramer, Jack Weidman, Constance Barick and Joyce Miller.

Jacquelyn and Bonnie Miller sang a duet "Silent Night" and "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" was sung by the Girls' chorus. The congregation and Sunday school participated in several hymns during the program.

The prelude was by Hazel Decker and the scripture reading was by Richard Lesoine. Prayer and benediction were given by the pastor, Rev. R. H. Feltham.

At the end of the service Santa made his welcome appearance and presented his gifts.

Robert Hartman Honored At Rites

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. yesterday at Lanterman funeral home for Robert Moyer Hartman, Rev. Thomas Shoemith officiating.

J. Simpson Africa Lodge 628, F. and A. M., East Stroudsburg, conducted memorial rites at 8 p. m. Monday at the funeral home. Members of the Acme Hose Co., of which the deceased was a past president, paid their respects in a group Monday night.

Paybearers were William Masters, J. Maurice Edinger, Frank Quinlan, Emerson Rahn, Rudolph Manheim and Edward Werkheiser. Interment was in Laurelwood cemetery.
